

Twisted Fringe Made Easy by Susan Bowman

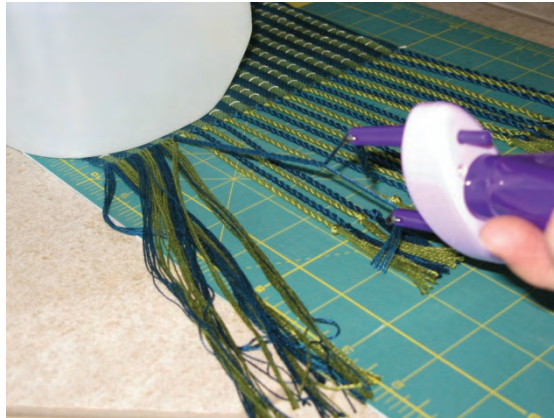

December 20, 2010

Two strand and three strand fringe twisters.

After Step 3

After Step 4

For easy and great looking twisted fringe, I use a battery operated gadget that is advertised as a hair braider. It's available in both two strand and three strand versions for under $20. Go to eBay and search under Conair Hair Braider, IGIA Hair Braider, or Hannah Montana Hair Braider.

Align the end of your woven piece on a cutting mat and weight it with something like a gallon jug of water.

Secure each group of warp threads to be twisted under the spring loaded clips on the posts. The clips are metal and can be wrapped with non-slippery yarn to grip the warps better.

Push the thumb switch forward to turn the posts until the desired amount of twist is achieved.

Push the thumb switch backwards to turn the head which twists the warp groups around each other.

Release the spring loaded clips and tie a knot so that the fringe is the desired length. Repeat for all groups of warp threads.

Trim fringe ends now or after finishing using a rotary cutter and cutting mat.