

A Visit to Heather McLaren's Flock by Susan Bowman

These British Registered Soay sheep are part of Heather McLaren's flock. They are an ancient breed that survived from the Bronze Age and that are known for their intelligence. The ewes are friendly and great mothers. Ewes are typically 55 lbs. and rams 80 lbs. They graze on a variety of plant types and are great at retarding fires. The lambs in these pictures are about a month old.
